

They Say It's Damaging Their Health

Non-Smokers Fight United Battle

By JANET PARKER

Mary Pancoast says she was "smoked off" a job last year.

As a non-smoker, she says she suffered for four and 1/2 months and then gave up.

Since then, the San Bruno woman has found there's other San Mateo County residents who suffer similar problems.

They are organizing a Group Against Smoking Pollution (GASP) to defend what they believe to be non-smokers' rights and to educate smokers and non-smokers alike.

Mrs. Pancoast and others say they are tired of excusing themselves from crowded rooms when the cigarette smoke gets too thick.

And, many say, it's posing a serious threat to their health.

As a result, they are joining other GASP chapters in Berkeley, San Francisco and Santa Clara counties.

"IT'S A VERY courteous group of people that has too long remained in the background because they were apologetic of having cigarette smoke bother them," Mrs. Pancoast said.

"But they just can't take it any longer," she said. The organization held its first meeting Oct. 27 in Foster City and will continue to meet the second Tuesday of every month.

Mrs. Pancoast said she joined the ranks of GASP after reading about San Bruno City Councilman Tony Governale last summer.

Governale had refused to cease smoking in council chambers after the council voted to ban smoking at meetings.

She said his action was the "height of inconsideration."

"I don't want to hurt anybody or step on any toes but I don't want to be hurt either," she said. "Somebody has to be out there and do a little bit of fighting."

There was no GASP until Donavan Marble of Burlingame, an attorney, started the San Francisco GASP chapter in 1971.

There already was a non-smoking group called Anti-Smoking Pollution (ASH) based in Washington D.C. for sometime but they wanted something active on a local level.

"The basic thing that brought everyone together is the feeling that non-smokers had a right to clean air in places of public assemblage," he said. "A lot of people think we are a smoking abstention group but that's not true."

In fact, he said, there are people who smoke in his group — they just can't smoke at the meetings.

"If they want that kind of carbon monoxide as part of their environment, then that's their right," he said. "We just don't want to be subjected to it."

GASP BASES much of its argument on medical knowledge and research.

STORY OF NEWLYWEDS

Serramonte High School Drama Department is rehearsing its fall play, "Barefoot in the Park," a comedy written by Neil Simon. The story deals with the plight of a young newlywed couple in their first apartment. Performances will be at 8 p.m., Nov. 14, 15, 21 and 22 in the little theatre. Tickets are $1 at the door and may be reserved by phoning 992-9555. The cast includes (from left) Evan Pappas, student director; Amy Schwimmer, a student director; Larry Escamilla; Tia Speros; Carlos Rodriguez as the bridegroom; and Karen Guzman as the newlywed wife.

JESD Testing Shows Poor Minority Results

Results of tests taken in the spring show that black and latino children in the Jefferson Elementary School District are achieving below district average in the first, second and third grade.

The same report also indicates the district has geared its program to remedial and average students and "is not adequately meeting the needs of children who would normally score about the national norm."

The report outlining these and other findings was released last week by Dr. Chris Westphal Jr., director of research and development.

It evaluates the results of a reading test administered in grades one, two and three and of a Science Research Associates Achievement test in grades four through eight in reading, reading comprehension and vocabulary, language arts, spelling, and in math computation and concepts.

As a result of the findings, Westphal has recommended that the 19 school districts:

- Initiate a study to get a better picture of the reading achievement of black and latino students.
- evaluate curriculum to determine if children are being challenged to learning capacities.
- Expand the Mentally Gifted Minors Program to the intermediate grade level.
- Seek funded programs geared to students who scored below the district average.

Concerning the low scores for blacks and Latinos, Westphal said the district must first validate those findings by additional tests.

"We need to do other testing to substantiate that this problem does exist," Westphal said.

Certain tests, he said, tend to be culturally biased toward different ethnic groups and JESD must determine if cultural bias was involved in the scores of these tests.

He said the district will retest some black and latino children using different testing methods.

In the first grade, black students scored on the average two months below the latino students scored one month below the overall district average of two years, one month.

In second grade, black students were three months below and latino students one month below the two year, nine month district average.

The third grade district average was three years, six months. Black students scored four months below and latino students scored two months below that average.

Caucasian, Asian and Filipino students, however, scored above the district average in all cases.

Westphal also reported other sources of assessment might include parent and teacher judgment of reading progress.

"These COOP reading results suggested that the instructional program in reading is not adequate in meeting the needs of black and latino populations," Westphal said in the report.

Medical-Nutrition Program Rejected by School Board

The Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees Monday night rejected a proposal for seeking federal funding of a comprehensive medical-nutrition program for low income pupils.

Dr. Jerry Houseman, assistant superintendent, a group of teachers and nurses and the Guadalupe Health Center staff wrote the proposal, which sought nearly $1-million in U.S. funds.

The trustees, after over three hours of discussion, killed the proposal, 4-1, with only Mrs. Dorothy Adams favoring the program.

Houseman and Guadalupe Director James Valentine said the program was designed for junior high school pupils.

Valentine said some 518 pupils and their families would have been involved in the medical phase of the program.

Trustees believed community participation in the planning for the grant proposal was inadequate.

Trustee Al Schwarzbach said "too many" questions were left unanswered and that he seriously doubted the district's eligibility for such funding.

Some parents, as well as Trustee Beverly Forrester, said they believed there were alternative service agencies for some of the proposals.

Mrs. Forrester also said she believed some of the nutrition information could be taught without extra cost, through more in-service training of teachers.

Tests and surveys indicated that while students had some knowledge of nutrition, they were not applying it to their daily eating habits.

Project Proposed to Serve As Probation Alternative

Daly City's probation referrals are possibly the highest in the county.

But a program proposed there will challenge that distinction if funding is approved.

The proposal, called the Neighborhood Family Program, would establish a model family for potential probation referrals to become acquainted with.

That "family," composed of staff members, would be available for the juvenile whenever he or she needs help or guidance.

And, says the program's creator, Ed Tomasello, the juvenile could probably find at least one person in the family to whom he or she could relate.

"FOR A LOT OF KIDS referred to probation, it's not really where they belong," said Tomasello. Daly City's director of parks and recreation.

From the first time a young person is placed on probation, Tomasello said, he or she is thrown into a situation with other children who set an impression — often not a good one.

"The system itself can create more problems for the child," Tomasello said.

Probation, he said, offers the child one person he or she can seek help from, the probation officer. If the child refuses the officer's help, nothing can be accomplished.

He said his program would be an alternative for probation.

"Maybe we can provide an alternative that isn't as harsh," Tomasello said. "And maybe it wouldn't contribute as many bad impressions for the child to fashion himself after."

Tomasello is seeking funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency of the County Criminal Justice Council.

"What we would try to do is to provide people of different types," Tomasello said. "Some children relate to a very positive person, some to a more easy going type, some to a more intellectual type, and still some to a more sports oriented type."

"We would try to have enough people available so the child can establish one person he wants to have a rapport with," he said.

The family, through nature, history and culture, he said, has been the logical unit to provide a child with moral values and social knowledge.

The family, he said, would consist of a father figure, mother figure, hero-brother figure, good guy type brother figure, sweetheart type sister and a good friend sister figure.

EACH FAMILY MEMBER, he proposes, would carry a caseload of up to 40 youngsters.

The father and mother figures would supervise and assign individual cases to family members and make changes.

In entering the program, a child would be interviewed by the total family.

The youngster and family would get to know each other, he said, through a daily program of recreational activity in which both members of the family and youngster would participate.

And as the child's problems became more clear, he could be directed to other activities in the community, including the municipal recreation program and high school shops for vocational education and work experience programs.

"It amounts to, a coordinated effort of several agencies," he said. "There's never been a concerted effort of all agencies going at one time."

Already Tomasello has been told $60,000 may be available and Anne Taylor, executive director of the Criminal Justice Council, said the council is expected to act Nov. 16 on funding for that proposal and several other delinquency-diversion programs proposed throughout the county.

DC Will Not Renew Pacifica Waste Pact

Daly City is leaving Pacifica holding the bag — and it's full of garbage.

Pacifica council members Monday were told that Daly City does not intend to renew its agreement with the Coastside Scavenger Company (which serves Pacifica) for disposal at the Mussel Rock dump inside Daly City.

Daly City City Manager David Rowe, in an Oct. 31 letter to Pacifica City Manager Don Weidner, said Pacifica had until July 6, 1976 to look for another dump site.

Rowe cited space limitations at the dump for the decision to close the site to all outside agencies — except Broadmoor and Coima "for the time being."

Presently the Daly City Scavenger Company is having a series of soil tests conducted at a cost of $40,000 to determine the stability of the ground at various depths inside the dump.

This test, being conducted by KCA Associates of San Francisco, will determine the life span of Mussel Rock dump, Rowe said.

While it is the city's hopes that the facility can be used for another 10-15 years, the specific life is very much unknown at this time," Rowe pointed out in his letter.

The soil studies may indicate the dump would be suitable for use for another 15 years, or could be cut to less than five years, Rowe said.

Pacifica has used the Mussel Rock dump since 1972. Its current agreement with Daly City provides for the Coastside Scavenger Company to pay Daly City and the Scavenger Company some $120,000 annually for use of the site.

The city's obligation must be to its own citizens, and if we should have a facility capacity of (only) five years, it should be managed to provide the maximum accommodation for residents of Daly City," Rowe said.

Termination of the dump agreement was a sudden, unexpected move by Daly City.

Rowe's action was believed to be predicated on the on-going soil engineering studies now underway at Mussel Rock.

Haskins Denies Charges

Despite the insistence of Daly City officials that he is violating his grading permit, Arthur "Buzz" Haskins argues he has not harmed any part of the proposed new Hillside Park in the Blossom Valley section of the city.

In fact, according to Haskins, he has not violated the permit boundaries — either in the proposed park area (which Haskins still owns) or the Jefferson Elementary School District boundaries on the opposite side of the housing development.

Earlier, both City Manager David Rose and City Engineer David Macabee condemned Haskins for allegedly grading inside the tentative boundaries agreed on verbally between the city and builder.

Haskins said, "This just isn't true."

"I think (Dave) Macabee better learn how to read a grading map," Haskins commented after learning of the city engineer's statement on the subject.

But Rowe supported Macabee's charges that Haskins has "gone beyond what he has to do to get a two-to-one slope" necessary to develop the area agreed upon in the grading permit.

On the other hand both Rowe and Community Services Department head Don Fleming say they do not feel Haskins has in any way endangered the park site.

There have been two proposals made for the park site boundaries — one by Haskins and the other by the city staff.

Haskins said he has agreed verbally with the staff's recommendation, which includes moving a roadway 60 feet east of the original route in order to preserve the bottom of the park.

Once the roadbed is graded, Haskins will install an 18-inch water pipe along the street.

Court Rules on Owner's Liability

Owners or operators of service stations are criminally liable for the fraudulent sale acts of their employees whether they have knowledge about them or not, a court has ruled.

The landmark decision by the First District Court of Appeal in San Francisco stems from a Daly City case two years ago.

The eight-page decision, written by Presiding Justice John P. Molinari, emphasized that the "overriding right of the members of the public is to receive what they bargain for."

The ruling affirmed the 1974 misdemeanor convictions of Leo Wayne Travers, owner of a service station in Daly City.

Travers was not on the service station premises at the time his employee, Greg Mitchell, sold motor oil which had been mislabeled and misbranded, nor was there any evidence that Travers was aware of the sales, the opinion noted.

Mitchell pleaded guilty to one misdemeanor count. The court held, "It is not too onerous a burden to require that the owner or operator of a service station must control and supervise his employees so as to prevent the selling by his employees of misbranded or mislabeled oil."

San Mateo County Deputy Dist. Atty. Margaret J. Kemp, who prepared the argument for the D.C.A., said that the decision was the first under new state oil and gasoline laws.

More important, she said, is that the ruling applies the strict consumer protection laws of drugs and food to oil and gasoline.

Defense attorneys argued that as Mitchell's employer, Travers cannot be held criminally responsible for his employee's act unless it was proved that he knew of the act, or intentionally aided, advised or abetted it.

Admiral Aiming Not to Be Unique

By RICK SULLIVAN

The first black man ever to achieve the rank of admiral, Samuel L. Gravely, says the U.S. Navy's "No. 1 priority program" is to recruit more minorities.

The 53-year-old, bespectacled rear admiral said Thursday in San Bruno that the percentage of minorities in the Navy today is far below the percentage of minority Americans.

He said speculation that the Navy and other branches of the services would attract droves of minorities after the demise of conscription and the establishment of an all-volunteer armed forces has proved false.

Gravely admitted he spends at least 20 per cent of his time seeking speaking engagements at schools and other youth centers, "trying to explain to black youths the opportunities that are available to them in the Navy."

"But we keep running into one big problem," Gravely added. "We have to compete with private industry today that is opening up more and more positions for black persons."

"We want the good guys, just like industry."

The admiral noted a recruit today makes $360 per month.

The admiral made these comments after a one-hour tour of the recently completed $2 million Navy and Marine Reserve Center at the San Bruno Naval Facility.

Adm. Gravely is commandant of the 11th Naval District, which includes Southern California and Nevada, and commandant of the 11th and 12th District Naval Reserve, which includes California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah. He is stationed in San Diego.

Wednesday, he toured the reserve centers at Alameda and Treasure Island.

He called the new San Bruno facility "the smartest looking reserve center I've ever seen."

REAR ADM. SAMUEL L. GRAVELY

The new center soon will absorb reservists who trained at former centers in San Mateo and Hunters Point.

Adm. Gravely achieved his present rank in July, 1972, after spending 30 years in the Navy, his first two years in the reserves.

After receiving his commission as an ensign in 1944, he served as an assistant battalion commander at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. During the late months of World War II, he served as executive officer of the submarine chaser USS PC 1264.

His decorations include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, the Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Service Commendation Medal, the Navy Commendation Medal and the Gold Star.

The admiral sees nothing racially significant in his appointment as admiral.

"I just happened to have spent enough time in the Navy and had certain qualifications to make the rank," he said.

Asked why more blacks have not been appointed to his rank, the admiral replied, "Most blacks don't want to stay in the Navy as long as it takes to make admiral."

"I've been in the service longer than any black man."

He noted it now takes a minimum of 22 years in the Navy just to make captain.

The Navy never has had any great percentage of black officers. In fact, at the end of World War II there were only 60.

However, Adm. Gravely believes great strides have been made since that time. Of about 56,000 Naval officers today, 927 are black.

Since Gravely was appointed admiral another black man, Rear Adm. Gerald Thomas, also has reached that rank.

The admiral remembers that several years before he joined the Navy there was overt discrimination, especially against blacks. In the early 1940s they were forced to live and eat apart from servicemen.

He said the "general attitude toward blacks" changed in 1948, after an executive order was signed by then-President Harry Truman, declaring discrimination would end in all branches of the service.

Gravely said he had never experienced an incident of racism which spurred him to consider leaving the Navy.

Today, there are few incidences of discrimination, Gravely maintains, mostly because of the Navy's "equal opportunity program."

Gravely and his aide, Cmdr. Donald Scovel, praised the equal opportunity program, pointing out that in every naval base "cultural awareness workshops" are held "to get every man in the Navy to understand the ethnic backgrounds of his fellow serviceman."

The admiral attributed racial uprising aboard carriers some two years ago to "growing pains" in the Navy's effort to bring a "greater understanding between blacks and whites."

GASP

They contend that:

- smoke from an idling cigarette contains almost twice the tar and nicotine of smoke inhaled while puffing on a cigarette.
- smoking parents may be damaging children's health.
- cigarette smoke can aggravate symptoms in asthmatic children.
- smoking pollution can cause nonsmokers to develop lung tumors, alveolar and lymph gland cancers.

"What has happened is that when someone is smoking near you, you are subjected to as much if not more smoke than the person smoking," Marble said.

When a cigarette is at rest, he said, it's giving off more toxic odors than when it's actually being smoked," he said.

Marble said it's a matter of trying to balance the various rights.

As it presently stands, he said, the smokers' rights have exceeded his responsibility.

"Our right to breathe clean air is very important and significant," he said.

Robert Smith of San Bruno says he's taken enough abuse as a non-smoker.

"I'm not a militant type of person," he said. "But I'm beginning to feel that way about smoke. People can be so inconsiderate."

He owns a retail hardware store in San Francisco and got tired of people dropping cigarettes on the floor or blowing smoke in his face over the counter.

SO, NOW HE has stickers from GASP on the ashtrays in the store "in a friendly sort of way" and people are taking note.

Also, he's starting to ask smokers to acknowledge his rights as a non-smoker.

"It's like I tell my children," he said. "If you do something and as long as it doesn't bother others, it's okay. But when you start to bother other people, then it's a question of right and wrong."

GASP members say the smoker is hurting others and intruding on the rights of others.

"My feeling on smoking is that it should be enjoyed in private by consenting adults," said Pete Antoniak, a GASP member from Millbrae.

He says he doesn't mind people smoking. But when the smoke is headed in his direction, it's a different matter.

"We're not trying to keep them from smoking," he said. "We're just trying to get them to be more considerate of us, the non-smokers."

GASP has accumulated an assortment of non-smoking paraphernalia — buttons reading "Make Love, Not Smoke," "Smoking Pollutes Our Air," and "Thanks for Not Smoking," pumper stickers which read, "Non-smokers have rights too," and signs for homes and offices simply saying "Please don't smoke."

MARBLE SAID he wants no smoking areas so some people can actually participate in the government process.

"Some people can not ride transit, go to a restaurant or even go to their own doctors' office where there is smoke. They have a tremendous allergic reaction to it," Marble said.

Smoking has already been banned in public places in Oregon and Connecticut. In California, legislation called "non-smokers' bill of rights" has passed the assembly.

Other members, like Mary Panoast, are more insistent that segregated areas are not sufficient.

"There's still smoke in the air," said the San Bruno woman. "The ones who sit in the council chamber still need air that's smoke free."

Some members are carrying on the GASP campaign at a more personal level.

For example, Pete Antoniak said he confronted a theater manager after the dense smoke at a movie forced him to leave before the conclusion.

Robert Smith questioned the management of a restaurant after smoke there ruined his meal, he said.

"We don't wish to put smokers on the defensive," Mrs. Panoast said. "We are just trying to get them to think of us for a change."

Taxation Meeting

The Assembly Committee on Revenue and Taxation, chaired by Assemblyman Daniel Boatwright of Contra Costa County, will conduct a hearing in Daly City, Nov. 13.

The subject of the hearing is "Property Tax — The Effect of Assessed Value Increases on Property Tax Relief." It will be held in the Daly City council chambers, Sullivan Avenue and 90th St., in Daly City. It is scheduled to begin at 10:00 a.m., and will continue until 5:00 p.m.

PROMOTION

Robert McGushin has been promoted to store manager of The Emporium Tanforan. McGushin joined The Emporium as an executive trainee in 1963.

Boutique Set

A Christmas boutique and rummage sale will be held Nov. 15 from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. at Thomas Edison's multi-use room.

Probation

IN THE MEANTIME, Tomasello is seeking support from those agencies in Daly City that would be closely involved with the program.

Already Jefferson Elementary District and Jefferson High School District school boards have indicated they will support the program.

The probation referral problem in Daly City is evident in the number of referrals, Tomasello said in a preliminary report about the project.

He said Daly City experiences the largest number of referrals to the county probation department within San Mateo County.

Gary Yazalina, criminal and delinquency prevention officer, said Daly City certainly is among the county's leading areas for referrals.

In 1974, Yazalina said, Daly City referred 725 cases to probation, 492 of those new.

San Mateo, for example, referred 531 young people to probation that same year.

Tomasello indicated there are several reasons Daly City figures are so high.

He cited, in his report, a common border with San Francisco, a tremendous turnover in population, the high number of families in which both parents work and youngsters are unsupervised, and the influx of minority races and racial tension.

TOMASELLO SEES THIS as a non-punitive program. He is adamant that no stigmas be attached to the program or children who might become involved with it.

The police department, he said, has particularly shown a willingness to work toward prevention rather than apprehension in working with juveniles.

Tomasello has his eye on a house owned by the city that could serve as a headquarters and crisis referral center.

If funded, the program would be implemented in July, he said.

"While the probation department is necessary, it may not be the total answer," he said.

Service Set

"Bread for the World" will be the sermon message this Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 - 87th St., Daly City.

The choir will sing the anthem, "We Gather Together," and a solo will be sung by Debbie Gilmour.

There will be the observance of the sacrament of the Communion of the Lord's Supper.

Sunday School is held during the church worship service with Bible classes for high school youth and adults held following the worship service.

Council Commends Trustee

Richard L. Silver, the only male member of the Daly City Library Board, was commended for his seven years as a trustee of the library board during ceremonies Monday.

"The best part of the deal was working with four lovely women," Silver quipped after councilman Anthony Giammona handed him a framed resolution commending him for his years of service to the community.

His longtime friend, Mayor Victor Kriakos, was not present to see the award turned over.

The mayor was bedridden with a bad cold, it was learned.

Silver was first appointed to the board in June 1968 and subsequently reappointed by the council.

The council credited Silver with being instrumental in the establishment of the Peninsula Library System and in securing Federal Revenue Sharing funds for the library.

(He) was not content to merely perform the duties required of him as a member of the Library Board of Trustees, but (also) spent many hours of his own personal time to do research and conduct surveys to determine the most suitable areas for placement of libraries in Daly City," the commendation read.

During his tenure the Seramonte Library was opened.

Local Girl Scouts Sell '76 Calendars

"Hidden Heroines," the American Revolution Bicentennial project of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., is being supported locally by the sale of the 1976 Girl Scout calendar.

Women who have made history are featured as photo subjects and important contributions are listed on the large date sections which are suitable for doctor's appointments, social notes and business and school assignments.

Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts are selling the 1976 calendar for $1 each in San Mateo and San Francisco counties. Each girl may be credited with 55 cents towards her "Share of Belonging" and each troop will receive 15 cents for every calendar sold.

All profits stay within the San Francisco Bay Area and go directly to support troop services.

Many troops finance service projects from product sales.

The "Hidden Heroines" project of the Girl Scouts seeks to discover women who have contributed to society and make their stories known. The idea is supported locally by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council which has asked local troops to nominate "Hidden Heroines" for council recognition.

The 1976 Girl Scout calendar features 12 of the nation's Hidden Heroines and individual dates of women's achievements are noted.

January publicizes Te Ata, a Chickasaw Indian interpreter of folklore with a Cadette Girl Scout in an Oklahoma City park.

February 1976 shows Yolanda Benavidez, a junior high school Spanish teacher active in Girl Scouting, who chairs the Long Beach Council's Mexican-American projects.

Mrs. Ethel Spencer, state public health nutritionist in Maryland, is featured in March 1976, as she teaches Brownie Girl Scouts to make pot-au-feu.

Zelma Watson George, Ph.D., executive director of the Cleveland Job Corps Center for Women, chairs the Cleveland Girl Scout Program Committee and is shown in April 1976.

May 1976 Girl Scout calendar pictures Mrs. Virginia Blomer Nordby, lawyer and law professor at the University of Michigan Law School, explaining a law brief to Junior Girl Scouts.

June 1976 portrays Senior Girl Scouts training to be heroines of the future, with a police helicopter unit as part of their career explorations of law enforcement.

Mrs. Grace McLeod, a member of the national Girl Scout Board of Directors, is viewed in July 1976, showing Junior Girl Scouts how to make apple dolls.

Athlete Corinne Lamy, a physical education teacher in Torrington, Conn., appears in the August 1976 photograph.

September 1976 features Patricia Putthoff, an art student, wife and mother, with a Brownie and a Junior Girl Scout at the University of Missouri.

October 1976, pictures Mrs. Faylis Ward, a lifelong Girl Scout who is a prize winning swimmer and bowler from a wheelchair, as she camps with Scouts at Aspen.

Mrs. Rosalind F. Coscia, a school bus driver trained in auto maintenance explains repair services to older Scouts in Baltimore County, for November 1976.

Corita Kent, instructs budding Brownie and Junior artists for December of 1976. January of 1977 is also listed on the calendar as a bonus for those who wish to plan ahead.

"1776-1976 Girl Scouts Celebrate the Bicentennial" and the accent is on great women of our country's past and present, great opportunities for girls in the third century of the U.S.A., states the calendar.

More than 75 special days in 1976 are featured. Women listed run the full spectrum of achievement but most contributions noted come from the arts and politics.

The 1976 Girl Scout Calendar design symbol was drawn by Margaret Cusack. Sale dates are Nov. 7-21.

RECEIVING AWARD

N. County Cities Veto Price Posting

Members of the North County Council of Cities meeting in Millbrae Thursday night overwhelmingly rejected a resolution to mandate that all service stations post gasoline prices.

Despite impassioned pleas by Pacifica Councilwoman Janice Fulford and Millbrae Mayor Barney Spera that the council urge all cities to pass ordinances demanding that gas prices be posted, the council defeated the resolution.

Millbrae Councilman Art Lepore echoed the sentiments of most of the North County councilmen when he said, "We are fooling around with a business we can't do anything with. Gasoline prices are a federal problem and should be dealt with at that level."

Other councilmen called mandating gas price posting "discriminatory."

"If we mandate that service stations post prices, where is it all going to stop," commented South San Francisco Mayor Richard Battaglia. "Are we going to require delicatessens and dry cleaners to post their prices next?"

Spera for many months has attempted to get his city council to pass an ordinance ordering gas price posting. He has been unsuccessful.

He told the Council of Cities Thursday night he is now circulating a petition in Millbrae in an attempt to gather enough signatures to place the issue on the ballot in Millbrae.

Only three cities in the county have passed price posting ordinances, Pacifica, San Mateo and San Bruno. San Mateo County also has such an ordinance.

Meanwhile, San Bruno dealer and president of the Peninsula Chapter of the Northern California Service Stations Association, said the suit will be filed in San Mateo County Superior Court at the end of next week.

JUHSD Schedules Testing

The Jefferson Union High School District has set two "equivalency" tests for 16- and 17-year-olds who want to cut short their high school education.

A new state law makes the tests available, with parental consent.

The district's director of pupil personnel services, Anthony Trujillo, said students may take a state "Equivalency Examination," which is graded on a pass-fail basis, on Dec. 20 and next March 27.

Students that pass with a score of 70-80 per cent may apply for a certificate, legally equivalent to a high school diploma.

Deadline for registering for the December test is Nov. 28. The test will be given at Jefferson High School for a fee of $10 per student.

L.A. Joins Support of State Park Bond Bill

Citizen's groups and environmentalists are uniting in the Bay Region and greater Los Angeles area, it was announced Tuesday by Mimi Whitney, regional coordinator of the Save San Bruno Mountain committee.

Ms. Whitney will assume the official role of Bay Area coordinator, representing the various groups in this region.

Susan Nelson, known for her efforts on behalf of the Friends of Santa Monica Mountain and Seashore, will coordinate the initial alliance in the Los Angeles area.

The main thrust of the combined efforts will be the support of AB 2329, which will reopen for debate and discussion in January when the legislature reconvenes in Sacramento.

AB 2329, the bill introduced by Zberg before his death, would reappropriate state park bond money for acquisition of land which meets state park criteria and is presently proposed for development.

An amendment to the bill included acquisition of land on San Bruno Mountain. The Bay Region South Basin Alliance (BR/SBA) expects to receive support from all the organizations concerned with park acquisition and land use in both regions.

"This could mean a combined effort of at least 50 organized groups, as well as support from the various legislators in both regions," said Ms. Whitney.

Juvenile Court Referee Views Youthful Crime

By LIN DAY

Juvenile Court Referee Anthony Lovoi, who'll retire next March 31 after 30 years as a probation officer and juvenile referee in San Mateo County, took a hard look at the juvenile-probation picture as it stands now and commented "we'll have problems long after I'm gone."

Talking it over in his office while a hearing was being assembled in the next room at Hillcrest recently, Lovoi said the entire picture has changed since he began, and not for the better.

"The juvenile gangs used to fight each other. Now they fight society," he mused. "The ratio of girl criminals to boys used to be eight to one or even higher. Now it's 2-1, or less, consistently. And a lot more girls are committing what we consider boy-related crimes. For a girl to steal a car or commit a burglary is no longer unusual."

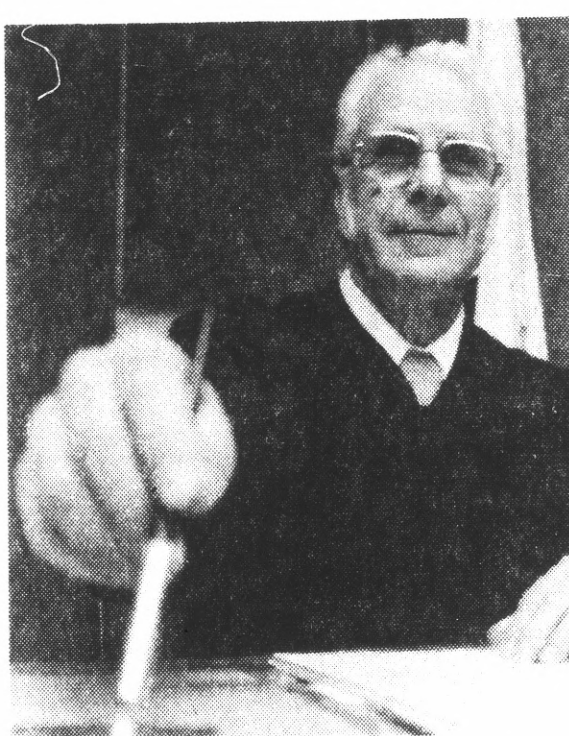

"Thirty years ago, when I started in the county as an assistant probation officer, you were dealing with kids who leveled with you. They were far more honest than today. "Now," he continued, "they deny the charge no matter what the facts are. They get a lawyer, and they concentrate on beating the case or finding a technicality to get off."

The under-18's are generally disrespectful, and most repeat their offenses. They consistently talk about their rights, but never their responsibilities, Lovoi said.

"We are getting more assaultive behavior — the kids lack respect for personality," Lovoi said. "Many feel it is inappropriate to take a position that there are consequences for one's behavior. And the present mood of the country is to look at kids as not to be held responsible for illegal activity."

Children, he said of

today's Peninsula young set. "are supposed to know more and to be more sophisticated. They are apt, actually, to be more naive in the area of what society expects and demands of them."

They misunderstand the law, and they misunderstand the fact that they can be represented by an attorney, Lovoi said.

"The kids make a point that when they turn 18 they will no longer be able to afford to get into trouble," Lovoi said.

"What they don't know," he continued, "is that the juvenile record is not automatically wiped out at 18."

"There is a period of time when we decide whether it is to be expunged," Lovoi said. Some are very surprised, he added, to find that due to bad behavior after reaching adulthood, during the time the question is before the authorities, it may be decided that their record become part of the adult record and be continued.

Moreover, Lovoi said, a behavior pattern established before a child is 18 is not going to stop when the adult age is reached. A child who has continued brushes with the law in his late juvenile years is more than likely to continue his habits after 18, he said.

If the juvenile problem is heavier than ever in the late teens, it also is extending downward. "We are getting kids as young as eight years old," Lovoi said. "By the time they are around 14 or 15, they are real problems. And there are lots of them. At 16, they get sophisticated and start getting away with some of their crimes. That's when they become a problem. Some, however," he added, "learn, and 'just disappear.'"

What's causing all the trouble in the juvenile ranks? Lovoi was asked.

"Most of the kids come from a broken family, or where the parents are weak, or the parents drink heavily, or there is no father, and the kid is left to his own devices," Lovoi said.

"They get a distorted sense of family life and of their obligation to society."

"They have lived in a more affluent society," he continued, "and they can't tolerate the fact that suddenly they have no money."

"There is a new dimension recently — burglary to buy drugs."

Pair Held; Assault Charged

Two Daly City men have been arrested and charged with assault with a deadly weapon after they allegedly beat two brothers with a large pipe wrench and a golf club early Thursday morning.

Officer Rick Paras reported he found the brothers — Edward and Mark Fadigan — lying unconscious in the street in the 6200 block of Mission Street about 2:30 a.m.

Edward Fadigan, 26, and his brother, Mark, 23, both of San Francisco, were taken to Mary's Help Hospital for treatment.

Edward suffered a fractured skull. Mark is being treated for bruises and lacerations.

Arrested was Sio Tuanau, 32, of 300 Park Plaza Ave., and Aloilele Tavita, 40, of 43 Richfield Ave., both in Daly City.

A third person, still unidentified, is being sought by police.

The assault apparently was sparked by a traffic incident involving the Fadigan brothers and their alleged assailants, police said.

County Defers Vote on Peak

A decision on whether to recommend the rezoning of San Bruno Mountain to permit a proposed $850 million community development by Visitation Associates was deferred Wednesday by the San Mateo County Planning Commission until its Nov. 26 meeting at 1:30 p.m.

And, commission chairman Fred Cohen said, the decision will be made at that time "only if the commission feels it has all the information it needs."

The commission has been gathering information at a total of 10 meetings on the subject, the latest of which was Wednesday. Public discussion of the matter was terminated Wednesday, and the commission devoted most of its meeting listening to the planning staff's summary report from County Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe.

sively that the benefits of its plan outweigh the costs."

Woolfe informed the commission that the California Environmental Quality Act provides that the commission can make a "statement of overriding conditions" that public interests warrant approval of the project despite a finding in the environmental impact report that the project will have a significant adverse effect on the environment.

"This is a very important point," Woolfe said.

In a letter to the commission, Visitation Associates reported that the developer is in agreement with the staff report, with the exception of a recommendation requiring that development be initiated in the Northeast Ridge area and not commence in any other planning area unit at least 60 per cent of the ridge development has been substantially and successfully completed.

Cohen commented at one point that there are "many unknown factors we can't solve because we don't have an answer to them."

Commissioner Wayne K. Thomas responded, "If we try to answer all these questions before anything is done, nothing will be done."

Commissioner Mem Levin said she needs additional time to consider all the information gathered at the series of meetings. She noted that Wednesday's meeting was the first opportunity for the commission members to discuss the rezoning proposal amongst themselves.

Commissioner Louis Schenone commented that he has made up his mind on the matter, but still has some questions he wants answered to reaffirm his decision.

Woolfe requested that the commission members submit their questions in writing for staff response at the Nov. 26 meeting.

Cohen suggested that "we all do our homework" and said and ask individual commissioners to express their reasons for their stand.

In its 26-page summary, the planning staff reaffirmed its earlier recommendation that the commission approve the development as proposed for the South San Francisco, Northeast Ridge and Brisbane vicinity planning areas, with the exceptions that the Juncus Ravine area should be removed from the proposal, and the Sierra Point development should be reduced to a lower density.

The staff, although stating a preference that the controversial saddle area be designated as public open space or park area as advocated by conservationists, reported it could not make a "firm" recommendation because the option could incur "unknown and potentially high acquisition and maintenance costs."

The report also noted that the Visitation Associates plan, which proposes location of 5,400 of the total of 7,755 dwelling units planned in the mountain project in the 337-acre saddle area, would incur high public costs of between $20 million and $30 million for public facilities, plus cause "significant unmitigated environmental impacts."

Further, the report says, in the opinion of the staff, Visitation Associates "has not demonstrated conclu-

Best gas mileage of any V-8 pickup

Miles-per-gallon figures for 1976 have just been released by the California Environmental Protection Agency. The ratings show Ford tops all other makes with the best gas mileage rating of any V-8 pickup.

Compare the EPA estimates for Ford pickups (shown at right) with other makes.

Of course, these are California EPA estimates, and your actual mileage may vary depending on your pickup's condition, optional equipment and how and where you drive.

Earthquake Prediction Seen in Near Future

By BOB PETERSON

An impressive array of scientists meeting in San Francisco's Sir Francis Drake Hotel last week predicted that accurate earthquake forecasting is about to develop into a reality.

The end result, said one, could be both good and bad.

According to Jack W. Carlson, assistant secretary for energy and minerals in the Department of Interior, earthquake prediction capability is expected to be highly developed in the near future.

"It is extremely important to anticipate the potential impact of earthquake predictions on people and their activities," said Carlson, chairman of the one-day conference sponsored by the U.S. Geological Survey. "Handled in the proper way, earthquake prediction can be a great blessing to mankind."

Dr. V. E. McKelvey, director of the U.S. Geological Survey, outlined a specific federal plan for the issuance of earthquake predictions and warnings.

Dr. McKelvey also said that within a couple of years instrumentation for pilot earthquake prediction programs will be located in both the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas. He estimated a total cost of $6 million annually to maintain the pilot studies.

"There is a considerable element of choice and urgency attached to the funding and developing of these (prediction) systems," said McKelvey. He said one purpose of the conference was to highlight this urgency need.

"The technology is in hand to a limited degree," said McKelvey. "The system could be expanded."

According to McKelvey, scientists recognize that the data are difficult to interpret at this stage, but it is never-the-less clear that the observations must be reported to the public and the best interpretation possible attempted.

He said the USGS has the responsibility to issue a prediction, but state and local officials have the responsibility to issue a warning.

A prediction, he said, is a forecast that an earthquake will occur at a certain time and place and have a certain magnitude capable of causing certain kinds of effects.

A warning, on the other hand, is a recommendation, or order, to take some defensive action, such as evacuate a building, said McKelvey.

The statement issued by the USGS headquarters would then be communicated to the governor of the state, as well as to federal agencies with responsibilities for disaster preparedness and response.

According to McKelvey, the governor then must make his own interpretation with the aid of his experts and decide what action to take.

"We want a procedure that assures responsible and open treatment of earthquake prediction information," McKelvey said.

Karl V. Steinbrugge, chairman of the state's seismic safety commission, said the state office of emergency services has established a scientific advisory panel to advise it on the credibility of earthquake predictions and a committee on state government preparedness to strengthen the response posture of several state agencies.

Dr. Robert M. Hamilton, chief of the USGS office of earthquake studies said although much remains to be accomplished before earthquake prediction becomes as useful as weather forecasting, hopes are high that progress will be rapid toward reaching a reliable earthquake prediction method.

He said it is important to initiate a national dialogue on the subject, citing the fact earthquakes pose the greatest threat to the United States of all the natural hazards.

According to Hamilton, a prediction plan was prepared in the aftermath of the Alaskan earthquake of 1964 and the need for such prediction increased after the 1971 earthquake in the Los Angeles San Fernando Valley.

Dr. Charles C. Thiel, deputy division director of Advanced Environmental Research and Technology of the National Science Foundation, discussed possible loss-reduction actions following a prediction.

"The biggest challenge to the public official is to develop economically realistic procedures and policies for the condemnation of substandard structures and their reinforcement, replacement or abandonment," said Thiel.

Energy Topic For LWV

Energy again will be the topic of discussion at the next unit meeting of the League of Women Voters on Nov. 18.

The meeting will run from 12:30-2:30 p.m. at St. Martin's Church, 777 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

The effect of economic and foreign policies on the energy problem, energy sources available today and future sources of fuel will be brought up in what is expected to be a spirited discussion.

Background research was done by Marian Daughtry of San Bruno, Elizabeth Daniels and Betty Fleming, both of Daly City.

Marilyn Wills of Pacifica will serve as the discussion leader.

The public may attend all league meetings.

Babysitting is available for a nominal fee.

Funders' Book Sale Highlights

Rare books and first editions of John Steinbeck, W. Somerset Maugham and other contemporary authors will be on the block Sunday when the Funders of the San Mateo County Historical Association present The Book Bonanza.

The works of Grabhorn, Colt, C and D Allen and Lawton Kennedy also will be featured as well as illustrated books by Rockwell Kent and Jessie Wilco Smith, and old prints and engravings.

Books of note that already have been donated include an 1841 edition of "The Life of Paul Jones," an 1859 novel of the French Revolution; an 1831 version of the "Fables of Aesop and Others," six issues of Scribners Monthly, 1875, and five volumes from the Grabhorn Press with illustrations by Dorothy Groves.

The Redwood Bank at Ninth Ave. and El Camino Real in San Mateo has been reserved for the auction. A preview party will be staged Saturday from 5 to 8 p.m. with wine and hors d'oeuvres being served for a donation. Tickets for the party may be obtained at the door or from the Funders co-chairmen, Mrs. Fred Searls of Hillsborough and Mrs. Geoffrey Bromfield Jr. of San Mateo.

The auction will begin on Sunday at 1 p.m., and no admission will be charged. Proceeds from the event will be contributed to the San Mateo County Historical Association.

Samuel Chandler

By SAMUEL C. CHANDLER

Cruelty to animals has flashed into the news again, with reports of the large number of animals that suffer great pain and even death because their owners treat them with home-made remedies.

Stories are told for example of farm animals that die of hemorrhaging following castration by primitive and bloody methods.

Thus, modern man adds his chapters to a long, sad story that tells of bull-baiting, rooster fights, beak-cropping. To match the history books that relate how cats were sentenced to be dipped in oil and burned, there are newspaper accounts of animals in zoos that have choked to death from golf balls that were thrown to them by someone from today's society.

REPORTS SHOW that pets suffer from improper diets, from receiving insufficient air, and especially from over-feeding which brings on asthma, fatness, loose teeth, and premature death. Other reports indicate that modern man, while abhorring the cruel practices of the past, throws lighted cigarettes at animals in the zoo; and cattle and sheep farmers confine animals in unhealthy conditions.

Thus, Ruth Harrison reveals that 15 percent of the farmers do not agree that pens should be large enough for the animals to turn around; 22 percent do not agree that chickens need room to spread their wings; 24 percent do not believe it necessary for cattle and sheep to have access to open pens for part of each day; 44 percent believe it unnecessary for chickens and turkeys to be in the open air at all.

Ms. Harrison charges that the fate of domestic animals is in the hands of businessmen who look upon cows, chickens, and so forth as commodities. There is no room in their thinking for animals to be thought of as living beings. Instead, each animal is part of the herd, and is to be raised and marketed by routines that Ms. Harrison calls "rigid and violent suppression of the natural."

Ms. Harrison's essays on cruelty to animals is part of a book entitled "Animals, Man, and Morals," under the editorship of Stanley and Roslind Godlovitch and John Harris. Actually, it contains four sections which discuss such subjects as factory farming, killing for food, and man's duties to animals. The discussions are by twelve authors who are authorities in the fields of animal care and helping.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS is treated in several chapters of Herman Dembeck's book, ANIMALS AND MAN. Of these chapters, number 20, "Respect for Life" is especially interesting. It provides a chart that tells in a few words how to avoid cruelty to animals in the home.

Grant for Housing

Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, has announced the awarding of a $5,780,705 grant by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to the Housing Authority of the County of San Mateo.

According to Ryan, "436 units of Lanham Act wartime housing, just east of the Cow Palace off Geneva Avenue, have been ordered demolished by the state of California. Funds from this HUD grant are to be used for construction of 150 family units in that same location."

Executive Director of the Housing Authority of the County of San Mateo is Glen Weman.

Scholarships

Three University of California students from the San Mateo-Belmont area were among recipients of California Alumni Scholarships recently guests at a reception at Alumni House at the university campus at Berkeley.

They are Janine Johnson, San Mateo (formerly Hillsdale High), Daniel Lee Miller, Belmont (Carlmont High) and Arlene Sachiyo Wakita, San Mateo (Hillsdale High).

CREATIVE CREW

Chairwomen put finishing touches on one of the lovely gifts available at the Holy Angels Women's Guild Holiday Boutique. The Boutique will be offering a beautiful assortment of hand-made items including Holly Hobbie and apple-head dolls, bread dough baskets and plaques, lovely tree ornaments and holiday decorations. Baked goods are always a favorite of the boutique. The Boutique opens Nov. 22 from 1-3 p.m. and that evening from 6-8 p.m., and on Nov. 23 from 9 a.m.-1 p.m., in the parish hall, 107 San Pedro Road in Colma.

Two Jazz Bands Perform Nov. 18

Two jazz bands at San Francisco State University — the "12 O'clock" and the "1 O'clock" groups — directed by Bennett Friedman, lecturer in music, combine for a jazz ensemble concert on Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. at the Knuth Concert Hall in the creative arts building on Holloway near 19th Avenue.

General admission is $2 student rates are $1.

Forty student players, with 20 in each band, are playing this program.

Lecturer Friedman leads both the "12 o'clock" and the "1 o'clock" units, alternating the two groups in performances of modern jazz classics.

Included on his Nov. 18 played by the "1 o'clock" composition "Sly" to be played by the "1 o'clock" band.

This group will be heard also in a work by Thad Jones titled "Dedication."

Temple Sets Square Dance

Congregation Beth Israel Judea will hold a Square Dance on Nov. 22 at 8:30 p.m. at the temple.

Professional caller Dan Black has been retained for this evening.

The attire for the evening will be casual.

Terra Nova Homecoming: Both Sexes in Court

For the first time in Terra Nova history Homecoming candidates will be from both sexes.

While the football team chose the girls for queen and princesses as they do annually, the cheerleaders and pompon girls chose the guys for Homecoming king and prince.

On the ballot for the Homecoming Court are:

Seniors: Kathy Buhler, Janel Schell, Karen Brown, Robbin Mackey and Julie Hoedt and Dave Matas, Ted Nolan, Mike Collins, and Rod Oliya.

Juniors: Vicki Callejo, Pam Harris, Kathy Meeks, and Lori Rodriguez, and Darrell Fazzio, Mark Johnson, Steve Riewerts and Mark Zarnoch.

Sophomores: Antoinette Anderson, Cindy Lima, Dawn Minasian, and Kris Serga, and Brad Kistio, Dave Luhrs, Greg Matas and Johnny Nava.

Freshmen: Debbie Garcia, Lisa Patterson, and Jonny Milner, and Joe Belli, Rick Cahilla and Bob Shea.

absences and total units earned listed along with the grade. It also will have a teacher's comment space, if the teacher desires to fill it in.

MARY ROBERTSON, a Terra Nova junior, is the muscular dystrophy chairman for contributions in Pacifica.

Robertson, who also manages the school store "Deca Den," accepted the position in affiliation with Deca Den because the store donates a percentage of its profits.

ANOTHER FIRST at Terra Nova.

Social Science Department Head Jim Soden is now the girls' basketball coach.

Soden, who has formerly coached lightweight basketball, will team up with assistant coach Pam Meuser in making Terra Nova a challenger in the GAA.

Help Set

Anyone who can't afford to paint his or her house or make minor repairs can get that help this Saturday if they live in San Mateo's North Central district.

Coordinator Lynn Barrett of the city staff and Asst. City Manager John deRussy reminded that volunteer helpers will be on hand again with free paint and their own tools to help begin improvements and restoration of dilapidated homes.

LIBRARIAN FRAN WHALEN has put into effect a "swap-books" system in the Terra Nova library.

The system is devised for students who have read all of their own paperback books but can't afford new ones. They now can swap their old books for other old books they have not read.

THIS YEAR Terra Nova will have new report cards. The report cards will have

Pacifica Events Set

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department will sponsor drop-in events from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at Ortega and Linda Mar schools, with activities including dance contests.

On Nov. 15, the department will sponsor the fourth annual Turkey Trot Cross Country Run, starting at 9 a.m. at Terra Nova High School and extending two miles to Frontierland Park. The sign-up deadline at city hall is 9 p.m., Nov. 12.

Winners of nine age divisions, from 5-year-olds to those over 60, will receive turkeys, medals and ribbons.

The annual community center roller skating trip will be sponsored by the department from 6:30 to 10 p.m., Nov. 22 at the South San Francisco Rolladium.

The community centers in Pacifica will be closed Nov. 11.

Temple Slates Service Dates

Beth Israel Judea services are on Friday evenings at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday mornings at 9:30 a.m. Officiating at services are Rabbi Herbert Morris, M.H.L. and Cantor Henry Greenberg.

Asst. Sheriff Stewart Closing Eminent Career

By DUANE SANDUL

His illustrious law enforcement career about to end, Asst. Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart shared some heretofore unshared thoughts.

Eyeing retirement at the end of the year at the young age of 54, Stewart recalled his feelings when the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors selected John R. McDonald as Redwood City Police Chief, and not him, succeeding the retiring Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore in July of 1973.

"I was very, very disappointed," Stewart said in an interview. I felt that I was well qualified to fill the position. And besides my personal considerations, I thought that it (the board's decision to choose from outside) was a criticism of the administration of the department.

"However, I believe, except for me (laughing), the board chose the best qualified man. It's been a real pleasure working with McDonald. To put it succinctly, he's a professional, and that's the highest compliment in this business.

"One could imagine that with both of us competing for the position that there could be strained relations, but there never have been. In retirement, I will support him for re-election."

Since 1968, Stewart has been one of two assistant sheriffs, the one in charge of criminal and patrol supervision.

Perhaps lost in light of his administrative reputation over the years is the fact that Stewart was the spark behind several of the programs in the sheriff's office which today are taken for granted.

He had been a deputy only four years, when in 1951 then new sheriff Earl B. Whitmore studied the background of his staff and appointed Stewart to initiate a cost analysis, bookkeeping and accounting system for the sheriff's department.

Prior to World War II, Stewart, a native of Iowa, had been an accountant.

It was also Stewart who, in 1955, established the county's first crime laboratory, a place scientifically to evaluate physical evidence.

He enrolled at College of San Mateo and took courses in chemistry and physics. He promptly became recognized as an expert in physical evidence, and testified at many superior court trials. For years, Stewart ran the lab himself, or with one other deputy. Now a staff of 17 runs the lab, which inspects evidence for all county city police departments as well as the sheriff.

In 1968 and 1969, Stewart complemented his role by receiving training in polygraph science (lie detection), and became the first polygraph operator in law enforcement in San Mateo County in 1969.

He also actively pursued promotions, and under former sheriff Whitmore, Stewart climbed the ladder to the No. 2 position.

Recalling Whitmore, Stewart said, "We had a close working relationship, and consulted closely about several issues affecting the department. We may have had different viewpoints or philosophies, but they were never aired publicly. Any such discussions were always held in the privacy of our offices."

Among the deputies, Stewart's reputation is generally one of tough but fair. Deputies generally emphasize the tough.

"Years ago I became the department's disciplinarian because Whitmore wanted it that way, and because former people at staff levels didn't fulfill that function to the satisfaction of the sheriff," Stewart recalled.

"So I became known as the department's disciplinarian... the hatchman," he added, with a laugh.

Asst. Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart Planning retirement at the end of this year.

"I've been told by several people that over the last several years the people of the department feel that I will not condone willful misconduct, but I try to treat everyone alike when these types of things come up. I don't play favorites. I never have," Stewart said.

Stewart's tale certainly isn't one of "I always wanted to become a..."

Following his discharge from the Navy after World War II, he, like thousands of men, eyed a profession. Gene Stewart, an avid golfer, wanted a life's occupation which put him outdoors.

He briefly went into business with his brother in auto repair, but that wasn't his niche.

"One day I walked into the Old Courthouse to the Civil Service Office to look over the job descriptions," Stewart recalled. "I was thumbing through them when I saw 'deputy sheriff.' I had served as a shore patrolman in Oakland for the Navy for several months, and I liked it. So I decided it was something I could be interested in. I took the test and soon thereafter got the job."

And today, only three men have worked for the department longer. When Stewart joined, 40 personnel manned the department. Today there are 450.

Why does Stewart elect to retire at 54?

"Well, there are many reasons," Stewart said. "I have been with the department so many years that my retirement benefits are such that it means I'm presently working for little."

"And over the years I've seen many examples of people who stayed on the job looking forward to retirement, then became ill and were not able to enjoy it. I don't want to make that mistake."

"And the job has become increasingly more complex, frustrating and demanding. There seems to be much less personal satisfaction because of the frustrating aspects of the job. I believe that because I now view the job that way, the department would be much better off having me step aside and letting a younger man take a crack."

"The frustrations? They're difficult to describe, and to try to explain would sound like sour grapes when it isn't."

At least initially, Stewart does not plan to accept any jobs. In fact, he already has declined several offers. He intends to travel and pursue his favorite outdoor recreation — golf.

"I intend to work on my handicap, which is 13. I want to get it down to a sandbagging 5 or 6."

Regional Effect of Colma to Remain Quiet Mt. San Bruno Studied

The Regional Planning Committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) plans to review the potential effects the proposed community development on San Bruno Mountain would have on the city of San Francisco.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors requested the review, expressing concern that commuters and workers from Visitation Associates' proposed Crocker Hills development would result in congestion of San Francisco's streets, buses and BART trains.

Visitation Associates plans a community of 7,750 dwelling units, plus commercial and light industrial facilities, in the development which it hopes will eventually be approved by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

The ABAG Regional Planning Committee has agreed to review all environmental documents available concerning the proposed development and to evaluate whether the potential effects on San Francisco have been accurately identified and adequately described.

The committee also will seek to determine whether the significance of the potential effects have been appropriately evaluated, and whether all feasible mitigation measures have been identified.

The committee's findings, along with its recommendations, will be submitted to the ABAG executive board, probably at its Dec. 11 meeting.

ABAG hopes to make a final recommendation on the situation so information can be submitted to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors before it makes a decision on the development.

The project proposal presently is before the county Planning Commission, which has scheduled a decision on the matter for its Nov. 26 meeting.

There will be no dramatic changes in how the Town of Colma handles its business in the next three months following the Nov. 4 election of one new councilman and new city treasurer.

That's the opinion of both the new councilmen and present councilmen in city government.

Mavor Fred Garbini said, "I don't believe there will be any changes — at least until after the next (March 1976) election."

Albert E. Belli was elected over two other candidates — Philip de Baca and Elsie Campbell — to fill the unexpired term of Earl Taylor, who earlier resigned citing health reasons.

Taylor then threw his hat into the campaign for city treasurer and was beaten by Mario Artau, a teamster-businessman.

Belli was a Colma planning commissioner for 15 years and saw the town emerge from mothballs.

He said he wants Colma "to retain memorial (cemetery) status" but will not push for any significant changes in the next three months.

Belli was appointed to the Planning Commission post by then Councilman Earl Taylor.

Parking Fee Issue Spreads

Indignation over a recent decision by San Mateo County Municipal Court judges to equalize overtime parking ticket bail has spread to the north county.

Some north county city councils are asking city attorneys and police chiefs to determine if cities can do anything to circumvent the judges' decision.

In addition, members of the North County Council of Cities Thursday night unanimously passed a resolution asking the judges to confer with all city officials before changing the bail schedule.

At a meeting last month, the municipal judges agreed to notify all the cities in the county that the bail for overnight and overtime parking and meter violations would be standardized at $5.

The judges made the change, it was explained, to make the processing of parking violations more efficient.

Currently, there are different bails for overtime parking, overnight parking and meter violations in various county cities. They range from $2 to $5.

North County cities, including San Bruno, South San Francisco and Daly City, presently charge $2 for all three of the parking violations.

The recent decision to increase bail means that north county residents could be paying 150 per cent more each time they get a parking ticket.

Albert Polonsky, Daly City city attorney, explained at the North County Council of Cities meeting that no person who received a parking ticket would be compelled to pay the new $5 bail if he appeared in court.

He explained that the bail set by the judges only attempts to assure that a person who receives a ticket will appear in court.

If a person who received a parking ticket appeared in court and was found guilty, then he would be ordered to pay a fee, not in excess of what the city in which he received the ticket, had set as the maximum parking violation fine.

In the event the person chose not to appear in court he could forfeit the bail set by the judges.

Most north county councilmen at the meeting complained that the new $5 bail would be what most persons would pay, since it is very rare a person will take the time to appear in court.

The majority of councilmen agreed the increase in bail is "unreasonable."

Some two weeks ago all the police chiefs in the north county received a letter from Municipal Court Judge James Miller advising them of the bail change.

Miller explained that the increased bail will be charged as soon as new bail schedules are printed.

According to San Bruno Police Chief Russell Cunningham, the new bail schedules should be available in about two weeks.

MEMBERS of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild launched the 1975 version of the Boutique de Noel with a champagne preview on Thursday evening with crowds of shoppers oohing and aahing around tables loaded with holiday gifts and decorations.

As is usually the case with this particular boutique, the tables were heavily laden with hand made items and tempting baked goods but, if you want to shop for some of the fine bargains being offered, do so soon for sales are good and plans call for the boutique to be sold out by the time the guild holds its next meeting, Nov. 21.

The meeting will be held in the solarium at 12:30 p.m. following the board meeting and the tray favor workshop, both of which get underway at 10:30 a.m.

A WINE-TASTING Party will be held in conjunction with the opening of the Fifth Annual Thanksgiving Art Show to be presented by the St. Andrew's Catholic Church the end of this month.

The party and preview of the exhibit will be held on Nov. 25 at 8 p.m. in the new St. Andrew's Community Center, Southgate and Sullivan avenues, Daly City.

Tickets will be sold at the door for the preview party but the public will be admitted free for the remaining days of the show. Exhibit hours will be from 7 to 9 p.m. on Nov. 26, following all the Masses on Thanksgiving Day and on Nov. 28 from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Persons visiting the exhibit in the lovely new building will have an opportunity to view or shop for oils, watercolors, photographs, sculpture, weaving and assorted other types of handicrafts.

Mrs. Rita Barichievich, Mrs. Bernice Greenblatt and Mrs. Lynn Back are sharing the responsibility for staging this exhibit and hosting the party. For information about the show, contact Mrs. Barichievich, 878-5211. Artists who would like to exhibit their work in the show may make the proper arrangements by calling 756-3222.

In addition to readying things for the art fair, members of the congregation are preparing for a Christmas Boutique, to be held on Dec. 13 and 14. The "Help Wanted" sign is out for this event and persons wishing to assist or donate items for the boutique should call the chairman, Mrs. Marie Kanon, 878-5275.

To register, send name, address including zip code, daytime phone and correct fee to the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., Daly City, CA 94014 before the first class session. Be sure to list day of week and class time desired. For further information, call 992-5356.

Careers' Night Slated For Mature Women

The Portola Business and Professional Women's Club is offering a "careers night" for women.

The title of the program is "Re-entry for the Mature Woman."

June Arney, an instructor at Skyline College and general sales manager at Macy's Serramonte store, will be the keynote speaker.

This program is especially for women thinking about re-entering the job market but unable to decide what field to work in.

Business and professional women will be available to talk about jobs and careers in retail sales, travel, law, banking, teaching, real estate, cosmetology, politics, recreation, art, journalism, photography, child care, bookkeeping, utilities, civil service and secretarial.

They will tell where the jobs are, what the requirements are, what the salaries are and what the job is actually like.

Portola B.P.W. Club career night is being held Nov. 20 at Nick's Rockaway.

Dinner is at 6:30 p.m. and costs $5.

The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. and is free.

PROCLAMATION
Daly City Mayor Victor Kyrakis (seated) signs a proclamation declaring the month from Thanksgiving Day to Christmas Day as Home and Family month. The Fraternal Order of Eagles has established an International Program for the promotion of Home and Family Month.

1976 GIRL SCOUT CALENDAR is now on sale in the Daly City-Colma area by all Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts.

The $1 item is suitable for Christmas and Hanukkah gifts and features large date spaces for jotting appointments. Each individual girl may be credited with 55 cents towards her "Share of Belonging" if she so chooses. All profits stay within the Bay Area and go directly to support services in Daly City-Colma.

In addition, each troop receives money to finance general and additional troop activities.

Mrs. Lynne Bolton, assisted by her station manager daughter Kathy Bolton, is in charge of the Daly City Area 1976 Girl Scout calendar sale. Each individual troop also has a volunteer adult calendar sale chairman.

Nov. 14 is the last day for troops to report unsold calendars to Mrs. Bolton so she may be able to supply extras to those girls who need them. The sale continues through Nov. 21.

BROWNIE Girl Scouts may swim Nov. 13 from 7-9 p.m. by bringing green Girl Scout permission slips signed by their parents, to Jefferson High School's pool.

All rules and rulings of the volunteer Junior and Senior lifesavers will be obeyed. One adult pool watcher must accompany each six Brownies.

Entries must be submitted with the designer's name, address, phone number, city and troop number, by Dec. 15 to "Mr. Patch, Scout America '76, 1711 Sweetwood Drive, Colma, 94015.

A KNOT TYING relay was won by Northern San Mateo County Mariner Girl Scout troop 13, skippered by Mrs. Margaret Damon of Colma, at the recent fall 1975 Mariner GAM.

The GAM was strictly a learning event with no competitive points given, according to Scout Marian Fitzpatrick.

Instruction was received in small boat sailing, scuba equipment, and lifesaving drill. The GAM was highlighted by crewing on private yachts on the bay.

Also attending the dance with Sea Scouts that evening were Sue Dahlin, Patty Byrne, Ellen and Diane Ridge, Leana Medina, Kim Gustafson, Michelle Hart, Marian Fitzpatrick, Mary Pat, Theresa Clark, and Jan and Lori Bishop.

Adults attending included Skipper Damon, Ferne Dahlin, Jackie Sharpe, Denise Lapachet, Pat Romelfanger and Helen Rogers. Coyote Point Yacht Club was the GAM location.

Good morning, good cooks

Although Thanksgiving is two weeks away, it's not too early to think about what we are going to serve on that festive occasion.

For many of us, sweet potatoes are a traditional part of the Thanksgiving meal, so this week, let's consider some different ways to prepare them.

CARROT-SWEET POTATO RING

- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 pound cooked carrots (mashed)
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
- 1 pound cooked sweet potatoes (mashed)
- 2 tablespoons honey

One-third cup orange or fruit flavored liqueur

In a large mixing bowl combine the one pound each, cooked and mashed carrots and sweet potatoes, one tablespoon orange rind and two tablespoons honey. Sauté the chopped onion in the two tablespoon butter until tender and blend into the vegetable mixture. Gradually beat in the one-third cup liqueur until mixture is fluffy.

Pile into a well buttered ring mold and bake in preheated 375-degree oven for about 25 minutes. Unmold on large round serving dish and fill center, if you wish with cooked and buttered peas.

This makes an attractive and tasty combination that serves 6.

This next dish takes quite a bit more time and effort, but the result of your extra work is a very attractive dish.

SWEET POTATO ORANGES

- 3 large oranges
- 2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- Small marshmallows

Cut the three oranges in half. Carefully squeeze out the juice and cut out pulp, being cautious not to tear shells. Combine the two cups mashed sweet potatoes with the two tablespoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half cup orange juice. Fill the orange shells with the sweet potato mixture. Place a few marshmallows on top of each orange half.

Place orange halves in muffin tins and bake in 400-degree oven for about 15 minutes or until hot.

Serve immediately.

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES

- 6 sweet potatoes
- 3 tbsp. butter
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- salt to taste

Boil the six unpared, scrubbed potatoes until tender. Drain, cool and peel off skins and cut into half lengthwise.

In small saucepan, combine the fourth cup water and 3 tablespoons butter, one cup brown sugar and dash of salt. Bring to boil. Remove from heat and pour over the halved potatoes which have been placed in a buttered, shallow baking dish. Bake in 375-degree oven, basting occasionally, for one hour or until nicely glazed. Serves 6 generously.

Westmoor Slates 'Devils' Disciple'

On Nov. 20, 21 and 22, the Westmoor High School Drama Department will offer its first bicentennial production "The Devil's Disciple," by the English playwright George Bernard Shaw.

But Shaw views the American Revolution with sardonic humor stripped all the heroics from the glories of war and seeing with the eyes of a realist the follies of greed, selfishness and stupidity which lost the war for the English.

As General Burgoyne views his inevitable defeat at the Battle of Saratoga he sums up Shaw's view, "The British soldier can stand up to anything except the British War Office."

This melodrama "The Devil's Disciple" becomes a tribute to the celebration of America's bicentennial in 1976.

Tickets are $1.50 general and $1 for student body card holders.

Performances are 8 p.m. in the little theater.

Sale prices effective thru Saturday.

PIO in SSF is retained

South San Francisco councilmen voted 3-2 Wednesday night to retain the position of public information officer (PIO).

Councilmen Terry Mirri and Leo Padreddi, citing the economic situation, objected to spending money for what Mirri called "a convenience position."

Mirri initially had moved that the council re-evaluate its priorities, terminate the position and use the budgeted funds for upkeep of the city's organized baseball fields.

Seconded by Padreddi, that motion was defeated, 3-2.

Staff had prepared a two-page report recommending approval of the post.

Councilman Frank Mammini said, "This is the first time anybody has taken the time, effort and money to let the people know what's going on in the city."

Mayor Richard Battaglia said it was "money well spent."

Concurring, Councilman Warren Steinkamp, made the motion to retain the position.

In other business, the council

- Set a public hearing Nov. 19 to consider cutting the city's industrial area bus route, assigning, instead, that vehicle as a second bus for the commuter BART route.

After 10 weeks of operation, the weekly average ridership on the industrial route has been about 90 persons. By contrast, there have been repeated requests for an additional BART route bus.

- Authorized the city manager to enter into an agreement to provide police dispatching communications services for the Town of Colma.

- Continued to Dec. 3 consideration of whether to revoke a use permit held by Blumenfeld Enterprises, operators of the El Rancho Drive-in Theater, for non-compliance of use permit conditions.

- Awarded the Orange Memorial Park backstop contract to Outdoor Products Co. of San Jose, on a low bid of $11,488.

- Granted the city's 1975-76 weed abatement program to Chemical Weed and Pest Control Co. of Redwood City, on a low bid of $2,794.

- Appropriated $6,500 for the city's share in a city-county resurfacing project of Hillside Boulevard within the city limits, from Chestnut Avenue to Lincoln Street.

- Scheduled a public hearing Nov. 19 to consider the proposed rezoning of 527 and 531 Myrtle Ave. from single family residential to duplex residential use.

- Introduced an ordinance increasing parking rates, effective after the first of the year, on both metered spaces and on city-operated lots. Metered spaces will go to 5 cents for one-half hour, to 10 cents for one hour, 20 cents for two hours and to 50 cents for five hours.

All lot rates will go from 25 to 50 cents per day, and from $4 to $7 per month.

- Approved expenditure of $2,900 as the city's contribution to the consolidated communications study for the north county fire communications system.

- Okayed an additional $85,525 to meet the cost of the 1975-76 street resurfacing program.

- Renewed the annual agreement with the county Convention and Visitors Bureau, contributing $29,000 as the city's share of its transient occupancy tax in support of the bureau.

- Decided against adopting at this time an official city flag.

Third Held In Shooting

A third person wanted in connection with the shooting of a San Francisco man at a Daly City service station Sunday was arrested in Sacramento Wednesday, police report.

Curtis Lamb, 19, of Sacramento, was arrested by police on charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

Earlier, two men — Erman Sandirfer, 24, and Kenneth Osborne, 18 — were apprehended by police and booked on charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

Sandirfer and Osborne also reside in Sacramento.

B'nai Israel Temple Service Slated for Friday

Sabbath services will be observed at Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., on Nov. 14 beginning at 8:30 p.m. Services will be led by Rabbi Ira Book assisted by Cantor Jacob Graudenz, who will chant the liturgy.

The choir, led by Richard Altman, organist and choir director, will accompany Cantor Graudenz.

Highlights of the evening will be Consecration of New Hebrew School students and the observance of the anniversary of Lisa Levine's Bat Mitzvah.

The congregation instituted the new program of Bar/Bat Mitzvah anniversary observances about one year ago.

A past Bar/Bat Mitzvah candidate will on his or her anniversary chant the Haftarah in the case of a boy (accompanying work to the Torah reading) or read from the Psalms in the case of a girl, just as they did on the occasion of their coming of age in the eyes of the synagogue.

Participating in this new program will be Lisa Levine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs.

Leonard Levine of South San Francisco, and granddaughter of Mrs. Helen Elkins of San Mateo.

Lisa will participate in the service by reading from the Book of Proverbs in Hebrew.

The Oneg Shabbat (social hour) that evening will be hosted by two members of the Temple Sisterhood, at conclusion of services.

A Junior Congregation Service will be held on Nov. 15 at 11 a.m., in the sanctuary, conducted by Rabbi Ira Book.

WANT AD SELLS CAR!

Mrs. R. C. Steeple, Jr., San Mateo, had a car to sell so she advertised in The Times/Post/San Bruno Publications Classified Sections. This is what she had to say after selling the car, "Very good, very pleased with responses. We have used your Classified Section for previous sale items and have been equally successful."

Art Show Scheduled At Church

St. Andrew's Catholic Church in Daly City will hold its fifth annual art show Nov. 25-28.

This year the show will take place in the newly constructed Community Center at Southgate and Sullivan Avenues, Daly City.

In addition to the art show, the new center itself is a work of art.

It is hoped that a wide variety of art works will be shown.

Local artists wishing to show their work should call the St. Andrew's Center, 756-3222, for information.

A small percentage of their sales will be donated to the St. Andrew's Building Fund. Among the art work the art committee is looking for is oils, water colors, photography, sculpture and weaving.

Grant for Skyline

Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, confirmed today the awarding of a grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities in the amount of $21,770 to Skyline College.

According to Ryan, "I find this grant of particular interest and commend Skyline for undertaking this project to develop audio-visual tutorial modules on Latin American art for distribution to high schools and colleges in California and the Southwest."

"Designed to increase appreciation and understanding of Latin America art and culture, each module will consist of slides, accompanying tapes in English and Spanish, and printed texts," he said.

Hunch League Results

The three-man hunch league sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division got off to a rousing start with 25 teams competing in the league.

Seven "open-division" and 18 "under-6-foot" teams started play in this annual league.

In the opening game the Wild Turkeys defeated the Butterfingers 41-19.

Dave Wiendinger led all scorers with 17 for the winners while Doug Gray tallied 10 for the losers.

Greg Stevens scored 16 to lead the Pulp Pirates to a 41-33 victory over the No Stars.

Joe Gughemetti scored 15 for the Stars.

Jon Kurpinsky burned the Nets for 22 big points to lead the Marauders to a 40-36 edging of the Warriors.

Mike Crapponi and Lou Catelli both scored 12 for the Warriors.

Paul Simpson opened up the league with a 19-point outburst as the Pickers handed the Rookies 41-30.

Ruben Ortiz scored 9 for the losers.

Bob Puts and Roger Idiart both tallied 12 as the Celtics easily handled the glorified Gunners 40-24.

Bob Porter and Dave Murphy each scored 10 for the Gunners.

Fred Wood was a one-man wrecking crew as he scored 19 points to lead the VOP Dental School to a 41-16 thrashing of the Team.

Benny Cortade scored 10 for the Team. Dave Schneider took scoring honors for the evening with his 22 points as his Rogues outpointed the Sorry Six 41-24.

Randy Inouye tallied 13 in a losing cause.

The Six behind Glenn Phillip's 23 and Bob Fiddler's 21 edged the Minute-men 47-43. Mike Pacelli scored 17 and Jim David 14 for the losers in the evenings closest battle.

Murphy Fabiani tallied 20 in leading the Nets to a 40-32 triumph of the D. C. Hel-mets.

John Hontalas scored 16 and Gus Milon 15 for the Hel-mets.

John Harris and Earnest Demmer tallied 18 and 16 points respectively to lead the Proto Jays to a 40-22 victory over the Raider Rowdies. Dennis Capuz scored 8 for the Rowdies.

In the final game of the evening, Danny Capicini and Bol Dreyfus combined for 42 points as the No Scores squeaked by the Challengers 45-40.

Tom Borg scored 17 points in a valiant but losing effort.

Revenge For SC Harriers

The victory by the Skyline College cross country squad in the league finals meant sweet revenge for the Trojan speedsters. Last year in that meet Skyline finished second to Monterey Peninsula College, missing the title by one point.

This time, though, the dis-tancemen were not to be denied. Skyline finished first with 26 points, followed by Cabrillo (57), Hartnell (77), and Monterey (78).

Overall, Miller finished 44 seconds behind Cabrillo's Jack Reime with a time of 22 minutes, 31 seconds over the 4.1-mile Toro Park course in Salinas. Reime's 21:47.2 was a course record.

Skyline captured five of the top-10 places. Bob Lange wound up fourth place with a 23:15 time. Jim Martinelli and Rich Hornstra finished close behind Lange, in sixth and seventh places respectively. Dave Markstrom wound up 10th.

Service News

Serving

Now serving at Clark AB, Philippines, with a Pacific Air Forces unit is Airman First Class Josito A. Dumo, whose wife, Daisy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dionisio C. Magno of 1413 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

Airman Dumo, an inventory management specialist, was previously assigned at Travis AFB.

The airman received his B.S. degree in 1972 from the University of San Francisco.

Returned

Navy Electronics Technician Third Class Simmie L. C. Evans Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Larry of 298 Whittier St., Daly City, has returned to Alameda, aboard the aircraft carrier USS Hancock after a seven-month deployment to the Western Pacific.

During the cruise he participated in evacuation operations off the coasts of Cambodia and Vietnam, and took part in a variety of training exercises with the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Evans also visited several countries in the Far East.

A 1967 graduate of Balboa Senior High School, San Francisco, he joined the Navy in September 1972.

Reported for Duty

Navy Mess Management Specialist Second Class Prospero P. Estores, husband of Mrs. Leticia A. Estores of 1005 Skyline Drive, Daly City, has reported for duty aboard the replenishment oiler USS Wichita, homeported at San Francisco.

A graduate of Tanza High School, Tanza, Cavite, Philippines, he joined the Navy in April 1959.

Reported

Marine John Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Martin of 46 Eastwood Ave., Daly City, has reported for duty at Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton.

A 1975 graduate of Westmoor High School, Daly City, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1975.

Completes Course

Army Private First Class Jerry Galindo III, whose father lives at 23 Westline Drive, Daly City, completed on Sept. 25 the tactical circuit controller course at the Army Signal School at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

During the 11-week course, he learned how to operate the Army's tactical communications systems.

Pfc. Galindo reenlisted military service last June and completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

A 1967 graduate of Westmoor High School, he attended the University of Alaska, Anchorage, and Lane College, Eugene, Ore.

Honors

A Daly City man has graduated with honors at Chanute AFB, Ill., from the technical training course for U.S. Air Force fire protection specialists.

Airman Brendon K. Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Milton of 98 Westmoor Ave., Daly City, now goes to Lakenheath RAF Station, England, for duty with a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe.

The airman is a 1974 graduate of Westmoor High School.

Graduated

Airman Christopher White, son of Mrs. Ikuko White of 455 Westmoor Ave., Daly City, has graduated at Chanute AFB, Ill., from the U.S. Air Force aircraft mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The airman, who learned to maintain and service multi-engine jet aircraft, is being assigned to Grand Forks AFB, N.D., for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

Airman White is a 1974 graduate of Westmoor High School.

PACIFICAN

The Navy has announced the graduation of Seaman Recruit Joseph A. Frazer of 247 Avalon Drive, Pacifica, from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Classes include an introduction to naval terminology and customs, basic seamanship, damage control and fire fighting, uniform regulations and first aid.

JESD Defends Student Survey

The validity of a student survey prepared at Stanford University and intended to determine multicultural attitudes has been questioned by some trustees and parents in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The survey is part of the Elementary School Aid Act (ESAA) program. It is being administered to 1,200 students in fifth through eighth grades throughout the district.

The district already has surveyed the majority of the students and is concluding the sampling at the last four schools involved in the guidance component of ESAA.

However, some persons said Wednesday night that the survey is too personal and that it's irrelevant.

A parent, Dennis Swick, said some school principals saw a different test than that given to students.

He also said the children were to have been told that they need not answer a question they felt "uncomfortable with." His own two children, he said, were not given those instructions.

The survey includes 39 questions answered with multiple-choice, true-false and short answers.

ESAA Director Tom Notaro said those who administered the survey were given specific instructions.

He also explained that school principals who saw the Stanford survey prior to the ESAA program made a few changes for clarity and easier understanding by younger students.

Trustee Beverly Forrester said questions asking the student about his mother or father's work and education were "an infringement."

She also commented on the validity of survey questions about the student's opinion of and attitude toward rumors at school.

Mrs. Forrester said there is no way a student can answer a question about the number and reason for disagreements, arguments and fights at school.

That particular question asks a student to determine how frequently such incidents occur as a result of "being hassled, being pushed around, making jokes about someone's skin color, being threatened, making jokes about someone's belongings" and a variety of other situations.

And, she said, small children never stop to count how many of their friends aren't white, but they are asked to do just that in the survey.

"It could create a problem that doesn't exist at this point," Mrs. Forrester said.

One of the survey's authors, Dr. James Deslonde of Stanford, defended the questionnaire, noting the survey is useless in trying to identify any individual student.

Although the student is asked to write first name and initial on the survey, the computer which processes the survey does not record that name, he said.

"An individual response on this kind of survey is not very useful, but group responses are," he said.

Deslonde said the kind of work parents do helps determine a student's background and to see if social class is a determinant of a student's outcome.

Also, he said, it is necessary to determine the effect of a student's ethnicity, social class and sex on aspirations and expectations.

If nothing is done to offset certain patterns that develop, schools end up repeating the same kinds of social inequality for certain groups, he said.

"The only way we have to measure that in schools is to ask youngsters what they want to be and what they expect to be," Deslonde said.

He also said students are aware of arguments and rumors at school.

"They are much more aware than we as adults are," he noted.

Notaro said parents "most definitely" will be asked to give permission for their children to take the survey again in the spring.

Suspects Held In Burglary Of Cafeteria

Three young men were arrested by South San Francisco police early Friday after officers found them inside the South San Francisco High School cafeteria.

Booked on suspicion of burglary were Kirk William Millar, 21, of 220 Northwood Drive, South San Francisco; Geoffrey Kent Nelson, 19, of 280 Village Way, South San Francisco; and William Henry Leiva II, 21, of 216 Gateway Drive, Pacifica.

ROP COLOR

ROP Color makes food
advertising even more effective. Many advertisers report that the increased readership
and sales produced by color advertising makes it a profitable investment.

The Times has just introduced a new frequency discount contract available to ROP Color advertisers that makes ROP Color advertising even more attractive. For example, run 12 ROP Color
ads per year and receive 1
Color Premium FREE. See

Order Holiday Cakes, Pies at Stickney's

When ordering holiday pastries at Stickney's restaurants on the Peninsula, you can expect festive decorations. Also old-fashioned fruit cakes with an abundance of fruits and nuts. Adrian Stickney, who heads the thriving restaurant and bakery empire, anticipates the best holiday season ever. Jimmy Payer is one of the Peninsula's busiest musicians. Jim entertains at the organ on Wednesday and Thursday nights at Nick's restaurant in Rockaway Beach, then returns with a combo on Friday, Saturday and Sunday to provide the evenings dance sounds. The seafood assortment at Captain Charles (located just across the street from Nick's) is as it should be — extensive. Fresh Halibut Steak, "Florentine" and Filet of Red Snapper, "Normandie," are two big sellers. A connoisseurs' delight at The Moonraker is Brochette of Beef Tenderloin. Typical of the many imaginative touches at the new Phil Lehr's Seakery in the San Francisco Hilton Tower: The steak platters are garnished with a slice of ripe melon and a big bunch of fresh grapes. The Wednesday and Thursday luncheon hours in the Golden Rooster at Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco, are thriving. Besides a new luncheon menu, mid-day patrons enjoy a lingerie fashion show.

KEY POSITION

David Cardwell, newly appointed general manager of the San Francisco Playboy Club, is presented with a huge Playboy Club key, with Bunnies Giana Stringham and Mini Minor assisting.

Bustling Lounge at Vince's Restaurant

The lounge of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant bustles every evening from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. with crowds from nearby offices stopping by for a cocktail refresher and tasty hors d'oeuvres before heading for home or other destinations. Besides an impressive entrance and an unusual collection of antiques and artifacts, an important factor at Scotty Campbell's, an elegant restaurant in Redwood City, is the hospitable manner of Mary Lou Fox and her well-trained staff. As Mary Lou aptly states, "Every patron is treated as if they were guests in my own home." First-time patron are always delighted with the modest prices of Lehr's Greenhouse Garden restaurant in San Francisco. Diners start at $5.25 and the long list of gourmet continental entrees includes Scampi, Roast Rack of Baby Lamb and Chicken Kiev. Barney's Casino, South Lake Tahoe, is offering a special refund coupon that is intriguing the Nevada-bound. It affords a cash refund, as well as Keno play, a "lucky buck" and a special drink offer. You'll find the coupon at most travel agencies throughout the Bay Area, and at various restaurants and rest stops along Highway 80. Thinking about a vacation? Think no longer — get a group together and arrange for a bus charter to Reno, Las Vegas, South or North Lake Tahoe. Kay at Nevada Tours, in San Mateo, will help you plan the particulars — accommodations in a deluxe motel, and give you the bonus information.

Reserve Now for Holiday Dining

Thanksgiving is one of the busiest days of the year for The Castaway, at Coyote Point. Manager Peter Bovenberg reports that reservations are already pouring in for Thanksgiving Day dining. Casserole dishes are among the most popular selections at Romano's in Rockaway Beach, where both Italian and seafood specialties are featured as well as pizza variety to eat in or take out. Groups utilizing the banquet facilities at The Distillery, in San Bruno, return again and again. The rapidly-approaching holiday season couldn't look better, is the report from Micki, the vivacious gal who manages this Vince Russo-owned restaurant. You'll find an enticing list of Deem Sum (Chinese hors d'oeuvres) at the Superior Palace in San Francisco. Incidentally, the new banquet room here is almost booked solid for the holiday season. The recently-opened Palce's, in Daly City (one block north of Serra Bowl), is already being described as the Bay Area's most distinctive discotheque. Hamburgers, the all-time American favorite, dominate the menu at Hamburger Inn, in Tanforan Park Shopping Center, San Bruno. Hamburgers are prepared 17 different ways, ranging from the "ordinary" American-style burger to an exotic creation prepared Hawaiian-type. This is a popular stop for shoppers using the Garden Restaurants' 50-cent dinner coupon (see today's "Bright Lights").

State Park Bill Supported

Environmentalists and citizen's groups from the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas are uniting in their support of a bill which would reappropriate state funds for acquisition of potential park land which might otherwise be developed.

An amendment to Assembly Bill 2329 would include acquisition of land on San Bruno Mountain.

The alliance between concerned groups from both ends of the state "could mean a combined effort of at least 50 organized groups as well as support from the various legislators in both regions," said Mimi Whitney, regional coordinator of the Save San Bruno Mountain committee.

"It is time that the people unite with common goals for land protection," she said. "We are no longer fighting local battles. We must realize that the preservation of open space lands and the need for urban parks located near the population centers are extremely critical and of concern to all of us."

Ms. Whitney will be the Bay Area Coordinator of the state alliance. Susan Nelson, known for her efforts on behalf of the Friends of Santa Monica Mountain and Seashore, will coordinate the alliance in the Los Angeles area.

Called the Bay Region-South Basin Alliance, the group expects to receive support from organizations concerned with park acquisition and land use in both regions.

Ms. Nelson said, "An analysis of the critical lands in question and of the amount of monies available for acquisition is in progress."

Ryan Bid For Park

A bill to provide an impact study on possible extension of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area to include a large area of the San Mateo and Santa Cruz County coasts has been introduced by Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo.

The bill, HR 10447, would require a report to the President, Congress and Secretary of the Interior within two years.

The present Golden Gate National Recreation Area takes in the coastline and some interior areas from Point Reyes in Marin County south to Montara. The new proposal would take in nearly all of San Mateo County west of Skyline Boulevard and the north end of Santa Cruz County nearly to the city of Santa Cruz. Only the populated area from Half Moon Bay to Montara would be left out.

Critics have pointed out that this proposal would take in about 45 per cent of this county's total land area.

Ryan has suggested a series of public hearings by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to determine just what the public wants.

His bill specifies that there be coordination and consultation with the Army Corps of Engineers and 26 state and local government agencies, six environmental and eight interested private organizations, such as labor and business interests.

But input wouldn't be limited to these agencies, Ryan emphasized.

Ryan Asks NATO Bid

A report on his most recent European trip was given to the House International Relations Committee last week by Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, outlining his impressions during the 22-day tour of North Atlantic Treaty Organization and other countries.

Ryan stressed that should Generalissimo Francisco Franco die or otherwise step down Spain should be taken into NATO because of its strategic location in the "southern tier" of NATO and its already close military ties with NATO.

Ryan also had visited Portugal, Italy, Belgium, West Germany, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Ireland.

Crackdown on Fund-Raising

Trustees are cracking down on certain student fund-raising activities in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The trustees usually routinely approve money-making ventures for students but Wednesday night they decided to draw the line on activities which might send the children door-to-door and pose a danger to their safety. In fact, they rejected two of the three fund-raising activities recommended to them by the administration for approval.

On a 3-1 vote each time, they denied a candy bar sale at Vista Mar School and a magazine subscription sale for Colma Intermediate School.

Only Trustee Alvin Schwarzbach voted in favor. Trustee James Cranna was absent.

The trustees, however, did approve an after-school movie with popcorn and candy sales on four separate days at M. Pauline Brown School.

Trustee Beverly Forrester said she had checked with the State Labor Commission office in Burlingame and was told children are not permitted to sell door-to-door after 7 p.m.

Also, she indicated, there could be violations of child labor laws.

There are many things parents can do to raise funds without sending 9, 10 and 11-year-old children on the streets, she said.

"I'm against door-to-door selling by children, period," Board Chairman Davis Parker said. "If they need funds, let's get the parents to raise it."

Trustee Dorothy Adams also said fund-raising activities result in competition among students and some families just can't afford to buy all the candy bars, subscriptions or whatever students have to sell.

"Particularly parents in the lower socio-economic area feel they are not contributing to their children's status at school if they can not buy one or two candy bars or one or two subscriptions," she said.

JESD policy presently says door-to-door sales are permitted by written parental permission and after dark sales are prohibited.

The trustees asked Supt. new fund raising activity Herbert Hemington to have a policy written.

Senior Lunch Schedule Set

Lunches for senior citizens in San Mateo County are served Monday through Friday at five locations. The meals cost 35 cents per persons aged 60 and older, $1.25 for those under 60.

Transportation can be arranged by contacting officials at the local lunch sites. The meals are served at noon. Here are the lunch locations.

• St. Francis of Assisi Church, 1425 Bay Road, East Palo Alto.

• Fair Oaks Community Center, 2600 Middlefield Road, Redwood City.

• Martin Luther King Rec Center, 725 Monte Diablo Ave., San Mateo.

• Lincoln Rec Center, 901 Brunswick St., Daly City.

• St. Paul's Methodist Church, 500 Miller Ave., South San Francisco (beginning Nov. 17).

Here is the menu for the week of Nov. 10 to 14:

Monday — tomato juice, steaks, carrots, peas, okra, mashed potatoes, cantaloupe chunks, milk, coffee or tea.

Tuesday — Holiday, Veterans Day.

Wednesday — orange juice, baked ham, green beans, cornbread, sponge cake, milk, coffee or tea.

Thursday — macaroni, cheese, brussel sprouts, salad, roll, applesauce, milk, coffee or tea.

Friday — fish crispies, broccoli, carrot and raisin salad, tater tots, strawberries, milk, coffee or tea.

Moscone Position Is Eyed Already

With state Sen. George Moscone now in a runoff election Dec. 11 for mayor of San Francisco, the question is arising already within the Democratic majority leader's Sixth district about who might replace him if he beats Supervisor John Barbagelata.

The outcome of the Dec. 11 runoff to see who replaces Mayor Joseph L. Alioto will determine who represents the northern half of San Mateo County in the state senate. A Moscone victory would mean a special election in the district, which ranges north from downtown San Mateo to the middle of San Francisco.

Names being bandied about as possible candidates now, according to a usually reliable source, include Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, D-Daly City, former San Mateo County Supervisor Robert St. Clair, current Supervisor John Ward and San Francisco Supervisors Quentin Kopp and John Molinari.

Moscone, if elected, would be required by law to resign immediately from the state senate. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. then would have 14 days to issue a "writ of election," setting a Tuesday date 84 to 91 days from issuance of the writ.
